See Cannonball for quest items used in Cabin Fever. This article has a guide to making money here: Smishing Cannon. Add a hint to the sub-page instead of the article below. Cannons are ammunition used in dwarf multicannons. After partial completion of dwarf cannon quests with 35 smishing and ammunition molds, they can be done using the furnace steel bar, which brings 25.6 smishing experience and 4 cannons. Granite dust can be used on cannons to create granite cannons that have higher maximum hits. This requires level 50 smishing and no experience. Create [Edit | Edit Source] † Make-X is 6, followed by a 10-tick player blacksmith cannon. Making cannons is a common way for players to train smishing and profit without requiring much input or attention. The full inventory takes 159.6 seconds to process. Optimal speed results in a smishing experience of around 14,000 per hour by converting a total of 540 steel bars into 2,160 gunballs when not using the Prifiditas furnace. Using a furnace close to the bank increases efficiency. Players can also sniff one iron ore and two coals to make steel bars and use them to make cannons without returning to the bank, but it's very slow. Unless you use a blast furnace in a coal bag, the benefits from creating your own steel bars are much less than using pre-made steel bars.
